Alternative Farming Systems Information Center (AFSIC) publications orient searchers to sustainable agriculture topics, provide research guidance and optimize information retrieval. Our print and electronic resources describe specific topics; identify relevant books, articles, papers, and electronic sources; list subject experts or organizational contacts; suggest reading materials and Web sites; and offer database and Internet search tips.

AGRICOLA, the National Agricultural Library book and article citation database from which many AFSIC bibliographies are derived, is searchable on the Web at <http://agricola.nal.usda.gov/>. We encourage our customers to search AGRICOLA to update the information in our bibliographies.

Please check our Web site, www.nal.usda.gov/afsic/, for our most recent titles, updates and out-of-print publications
